3 ARRESTED ON CHARGES OF GRAND LARCENY

Alleged to Have Stolen Automobile Accessories From Local Firm

POLICE CHIEF ATTACKED

Ex-Convict Attempts to Assault Martinson—Dawson Robbery Investigated

Morris Stock and Lawrence Halverson of Raleigh and Harry Whitmore of Flasher are held in jail here on charges of grand larceny, growing out of alleged theft of automobile accessories from Stair and Pederson. All are young men, and Whitmore alone is married. Stock and Whitmore were arrested in Carson and brought back by Sheriff Hedstrom and Chief of Police Martinson while Halverson was arrested by Chief Martinson and Officer Peck in Bismarck when they found his car had wheels, claimed to have been stolen.

Attacks Chief

Chief Martinson was attacked yesterday afternoon on the local street by J. M. Corcoran, who was released from the penitentiary a couple of days ago. Corcoran, arrested, is held on a charge of assaulting an officer. Chief Martinson, who was with Officer George McDowell of the Northern Pacific detective force at Jamestown at the time, stopped Corcoran to caution him and the latter immediately brandished a cane and swung at the chief, the latter said. A tussle ensued in which Corcoran was subdued without the use of a "billy" but it took four men to finally get him in a cell. He talked irresponsibly at times, according to Police Magistrate Cashman. He asked a continuance until he could get a lawyer.

Probe Robbery

Local officers were at Dawson, Kidder county, last night on request of States Attorney Charles Lissman of that county to aid in investigation of robberies committed Saturday night. The safe of the Powers Elevator was blown, the safe of the Farmers and Merchants Elevator entered, a garage safe blown and two stores entered. The explosions were badly bungled by the packmen, according to officers. The net result of the robberies was a loss of cash of about $10. Those in the local party going to Dawson were Philip Elliott, assistant attorney-general; A. Rismen, Photographer, Chief Martinson and Miss Vivian Martinson, who used a finger-print machine.

4 PRISONERS IN ESCAPE

Leader of Gang, However, Is Wounded and Captured

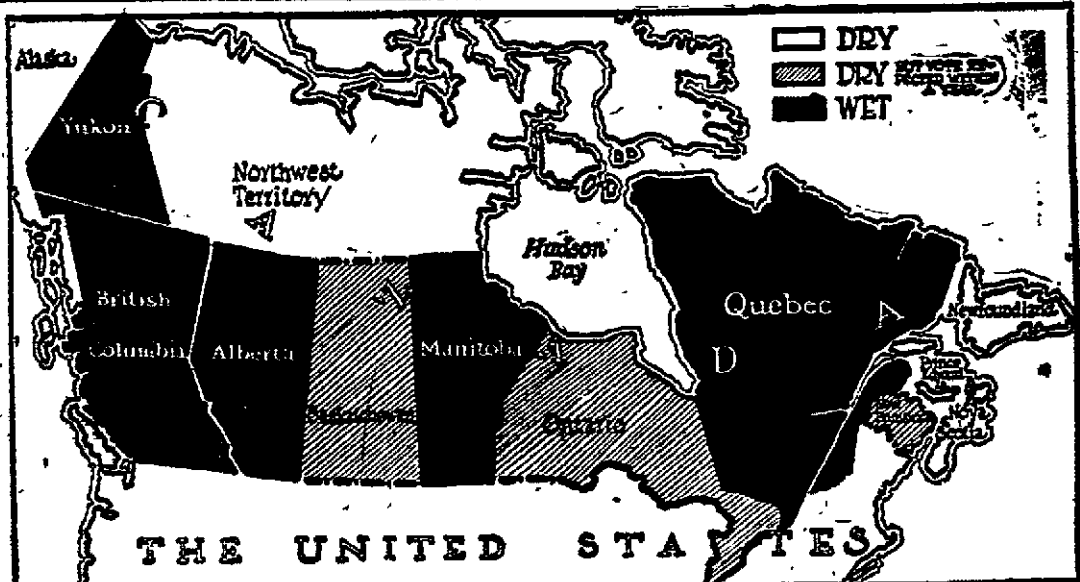

Lansing, Kan., Dec. 11.—(By the A. P.)—Four convicts who faced a rain of bullets while they scaled the north wall of the Kansas state penitentiary here last night and jumped to freedom were at liberty today. Their leader, Chas. Kavanaugh, however, was back in the prison hospital with a bullet wound in his leg. The break, probably the most daring in the prison's history, was the second within eight days. On Dec. 2, 18 other prisoners escaped by crawling through an abandoned tunnel and four of them have been captured.

GETS VERDICT FOR AUTO CRASH

Knudt Herbranson was given a verdict of $200 against Julius Ladehoff by a jury in district court late yesterday. The case resulted from an automobile accident on August 27, 1923, in which the former's auto was damaged. The case of Joseph B. Fleming against D. E. Matthews was dismissed with prejudice. In the case of M. O. Hunter against William Meyers of Driscoll on a note, the evidence was submitted to the court, a jury being waived, and the court indicated he would find for the defendant. The case of Fred Hanson against the Menoken Farmers Cooperative Association was on trial this morning.

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 11.—Trace a steadily rising curve to a dot labeled 1918, then drop it sharply to another dot at 1923, and on the white paper ahead place a leaning question mark.

There you have a history of prohibition in Canada.

On the rising slope are wavy ups and downs representing the varying successes of the Dominion Alliance, or dries, and of the opposition that fights now as the Moderation League.

But none of the waves in the line has the sudden, violent, jagged appearance of the depression since 1918. This' plunge takes one's breath.

Local Sentiment Rules

If you place the Canadian graph now alongside a similar curve for the United States, there appears a striking parallel. That is, up to 1918.

The eighteenth amendment has held the United States to the peak level of its legislation. Unhindered by constitutional restriction, following its fundamental policy of determination by provinces, Canada has altered the course as local sentiment wished.

But there is no getting away from the parallel. It insists upon the question: Will the United States eventually follow Canada in this latest turn?

Canada reflects the American movement through most of its history.

New Brunswick First

When Maine went nominally dry in 1851, the adjoining province of New Brunswick followed in four years with a tentative prohibition law. It lasted a year.

When the American prohibition party was organized in 1869, it was followed soon by the Dominion Alliance. And so it continued.

In 1899, but the government never put it into effect.

"County option," as provided in the "Scott act" of 1878, was for years the Canadian national policy on prohibition. In certain provinces provision was made for votes by townships and municipalities. Local option was especially popular in the maritime provinces.

At the beginning of the war Ontario had 68 per cent of its municipalities dry and Quebec, 75 per cent.

Has Time Restrictions

The war eventually brought dominion-wide prohibition. It was ordered by the government, effective in April, 1918, continued until Jan. 1, 1920, and was severely "bone dry."

Prohibition by the province as a unit had been started in 1901 by Prince Edward Island. Influenced by the war-time wave of prohibition sentiment, other provinces fell into line. The landside included in order Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Nova Scotia, Alberta, Ontario, New Brunswick and British Columbia. The federal order brought it in Quebec also.

Dry forces, naturally, fought against repeal of the war-time order. However, a law which permitted dry provinces upon petition, to have the federal government prohibit shipments into their territory.

The dominion government always has retained control over the manufacturers of liquors and beer in dry provinces and export from such provinces. It permits that business to day.

Governmental Control

After the dominion dry order was revoked, the provinces began rapidly to jump the fence from the prohibition fold. Quebec inaugurated its present system of government sale and licensing in May, 1920. The next June British Columbia put a similar system into effect by authority of popular vote. Yukon territory followed in September.

This year the progress has continued. Manitoba voted for government sales in June Alberta in November. A petition is to be presented in Saskatchewan before Christmas and a vote is expected in the spring. Ontario, almost certainly will vote on the question next year.

Fund of $200,000 Provided To Work Out Welfare Plan—Hoover Heads Movement

Mansfield, O., Dec. 11.—For two years this little city of 30,000 has given itself to science as subject for a gigantic experiment in humanity. In these two years, Mansfield and its surrounding territory in Richland county have tended to vindicate professors and physicians for their abstract theories in medicine. In these two years, Mansfield and its surrounding territory in Richland county have tended to vindicate professors and physicians for their abstract theories in medicine.

Red Cross Starts It

Such encouraging prospect arises out of the progress already shown by the Child Health Demonstration—the official name for this human experiment. For out of frail, bony frames have come virile, muscular bodies, testifying to the soundness of the theories put into practice here.

The Red Cross provided a fund of $200,000 to the National Child Health Council, now the American Child Health Association of which Herbert Hoover is president. It has been the intention to collaborate all branches of health into one system which, if proven practicable by this Mansfield experiment, may be adopted by other localities of the country.

New Viewpoint

"This is putting scientific theory into actual, positive practice," explains Dr. Walter H. Brown, who has been directing the demonstration. "We are approaching the problem of community health from an entirely different viewpoint. Heretofore we've stressed too much the negative side of health rather than the positive side."

"Now we are getting the idea over of prevention of disease, rather than its cure."

"Our main purpose is to develop the technique of health education and training on a scale that the average community can understand and afford to pay for it. Our approach is definite in providing proper medical attention to the families, in our nursing system and our educational program."

Ill Co-Operate

So Dr. Brown and his assistants—in fact all the physicians of Richland county, who are heart and soul with him—are training childhood itself into better health habits. Starting with the expectant mother, they develop instincts of health into the "mouth of the community."

They are succeeding with amazing progress. Nurses and medical men are going into the homes to spread the gospel of infant care and health. Schools have turned over all their facilities to the demonstration, so that now a well organized method of child health education is in progress.

From everywhere comes only encouragement. No attempt is made at health education or attention in a family, unless the demonstration has obtained full consent from the parents concerned. Yet, no opposition has been encountered.

Every city and county authority is working hand and glove with the demonstration.

It is this co-operation, Dr. Brown suggests, that has helped the demonstration progress toward its definite goal.

The proportion of males to females is generally largest in the west.

FORMER WIFE OF SAILSTAD TO SEPARATE

Will Leave Present Husband Until She Can Get Divorce, She Announces

Eau Claire, Wis., Dec. 11.—Ross R.

Richardson today is living at a local hotel, while Mrs. Leona Sailstad Richardson, who for a year has lived as his wife, is occupying the home. This is the result of the arrival of a photograph last night of Edward Sailstad who was arrested last week at Napa, Calif., with Miss Dorothy Anderson. Sailstad and Miss Anderson are wanted at Superior, Wis., on charges of arson.

"My God its Ed," That was the exclamation of Mrs. Sailstad Richardson when shown a photograph of her husband, Edward Sailstad shortly after his arrest. Shortly afterwards retreating with her present husband, Ross R. Richardson, into a corner of her home away from inquiring eyes of reporters and officials, the Richardsons conferred in a low voice for about ten minutes. When they again faced newspaper men and officials and announced that they had decided to separate and not live as husband and wife until a divorce had been secured and a sufficient time had elapsed to remarry, under the statutes.

READY TO RETURN

Napa, Calif., Dec. 11.—(By the A. P.)—Edward J. Sailstad and Dorothy Anderson, nomadic lovers, whose three years of roving terminated in their arrest here, completed preparations today for their return with officers to Douglas county, Wisconsin, where in 1920 they robbed a grain elevator and burned it down.

The pair was permitted plenty of time to arrange their affairs today.

WARRANTS SENT OUT

First Bail Warrants For 1923 Are Given Farmers

Hail warrants totalling about $125,000 were to be sent out today from the state hail insurance department, as the first payments on the 1923 hail losses suffered by farmers insured with the state department.

Warrant holders in Billings, Bottineau, Cass, Cavalier, Grand Forks, Griggs and Pembina counties, will receive the warrants, which may be cashed with the state treasurer. All losses are paid on an 80 per cent basis and will bear no interest, since they are called immediately on issuance.

Writing of warrants for 27 other counties has been completed, and warrants will be issued in a few days, according to Martin Hagen, manager of the department.

State officials yesterday signed up $1,600,000 of hail warrant notes, on which money was borrowed from Twin Cities financial houses to enable the department to pay losses in cash before tax collections are made.

REBELS TAKE GOVERNOR OF BIG PROVINCE

Ygnacio Enriquez Taken Prisoner by De La Huerta Forces, Is Report

REVOLT NEWS MEAGER

Few Dispatches Filter Through to Show Progress of Mexican Revolution

Chihuahua City, Mexico, Dec. 11.—

Governor Ygnacio Enriquez of the state of Chihuahua has been captured near Torreon by De La Huerta forces and is being held prisoner, according to word received by legislators here today. Governor Enriquez was returning to the state capital from Mexico City where he went in an effort to prevent a rupture of P. Calles and Adolfo De La Huerta.

REPORT CAPITAL FALLS

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 11.—Coincident with reports that Tepic, capital of the Mexican state Mayrit, had fallen into the hands of the rebellious forces General J. G. Escobar, commander of the department comprising the state of Durango and Coahuila was en route with 2,000 troops from Torreon to cut off the rear of General J. Estrada, the rebel commander of Guadalupe, military officials at Juarez learned last night.

Only meager reports of the uprising against the Obregon government by supporters of Adolfo De La Huerta, presidential candidate, were available early today due to the disrupted communication with the interior of Mexico. A dispatch from Nogales, said that all federal telegraph lines through the state of Nayarit and Jalisco were suspended and that a strict censorship was in force.

Reports that the Yaqui Indians at Dacelte were about to go on the warpath or that they had taken to the mountains in preparation for such action were declared unfounded in the Nogales dispatches.

Plans for ice skating rinks in the city were discussed last night with the city commission by the Association of Commerce winter sports committee composed of L. S. Classwell, S. W. Corwin and Benton Baker.

It is proposed, it was stated, to again flood ground at the William Moore school and at St. Mary's school.

It is proposed to have one big city ice skating rink, where hockey may be played. The only good site in the city, it was reported by the committee, is the baseball park. Mr. Corwin explained that the idea of the committee was to flood a place about the size of the football field, but that a survey made by Thorne Dickinson showed the ground was three feet higher at one end than in front of the grand stand, and this plan would have to be changed. A tool house which had been used by the Haggart Construction Company can be obtained for a warming house, he added.

The big problem is getting water to flood the place. Various methods were discussed—one to tap a main just west of the International Harvester Company's plant, another to lay pipe from Third street and another to send water through the storm sewer which goes through the athletic park. Some additional investigation probably will be made before definite action is taken in this regard.

Two methods of financing are proposed—one to sell season tickets and the other to seek contributions. Aid of the city commission was asked in necessary grading and in donating water.

The committee will meet again today.

LORAN FINALLY GETS DEER WHICH BROUGHT SQUABBLE WITH WARDENS

Ted Loran paid the game board of the state $15 and today at last was in full and legal possession of the doe white-tailed deer which he killed 10 days ago by hitting it with his automobile on the Mandan-Bismarck road.

About 24 bids were received by Deputy Game Warden Harry Thorberg, in Mandan, ranging from $3 to $15, which was the price paid by Loran.

"I killed the doe and I wasn't going to let any of these other fellows get it if I had to pay $25 for it," said Ted.

Loran hit the deer at night when it ran across the road. The car was badly shaken, but because the fender and bumper struck the deer and threw it to one side the car was not wrecked. Loran, who knows something about the hunting game, immediately bled the deer and soon after the entrails were removed. It was thus in perfect condition.

A friend of Loran bid the deer in for $5 before a justice of the peace, but game wardens seized the deer and announced bids would be received up to December 11. The original purchaser considered bringing a revivin action against the game wardens to obtain the deer, but decided that the expense of doing this would hardly justify the action.

The deer remained in cold storage in Bismarck, and now is in Loran's hands.

LA FOLLETTE FORCES HOLD UP ELECTION

Senator Cummins Unable to Command Majority Vote For Committee Head

DEMOCRATS ARE SOLID

Stick to Their Candidate, Who Is Within Two Votes of Senator Cummins

KELLOGG CONFIRMED

Washington, Dec. 11.—After a contest in executive session the nomination of former Senator Frank B. Kellogg of Minnesota to be ambassador to Great Britain was confirmed. Both of the Farmer-Labor senators from Minnesota, Johnson and Shipstead, are understood to have argued against confirmation. They lost their fight, however, on a roll call vote.

Senator Cummins, Republican of Iowa, who now holds the dual position of chairman of the committee and president pro tem of the senate, received 41 votes for the chairmanship on the first ballot to 39 for Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, and Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, leader of the Republican insurgents. This left Cummins three short of the necessary majority.

On the second ballot Cummins again was short three votes of the necessary majority. La Follette held his seven votes and Cummins again got 41 and Smith 39.

Cummins' vote dropped to 39 on the third ballot, Smith holding his 39 and La Follette seven.

With Cummins four short of a majority the senate went into an executive session and adjourned until tomorrow when there will be more balloting.

TRAIN CREWS FACE INQUIRY ON BAD WRECK

Engineer of Death Train Had Clean Record For Two Score of Years

Erie, Pa., Dec. 11.—Ten railroad men, the crews of two sections of the New York Central Twenty-third century limited when the fast train was wrecked near Forstgh, N. Y. early Sunday with the loss of nine lives, came to Erie today to face officials of the road and to tell what they know of the fatal crash. Among these was Chas. Patterson of Buffalo who for two-score years has been at the throttle of many fast trains. His record was clean until Sunday when during a driving rain and a heavy fog his train plowed into a section of the limited which had halted momentarily.

Road officials have stated that Patterson drove his train past warning signals. Railroad executives in charge of the hearing were joined by Coroner Blood of Chautauqua county and representative of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the New York Public Service committee who are also investigating. The hearing was behind closed doors.

BALDWIN TO MEET CABINET

London, Dec. 11.—Prime Minister Baldwin and his cabinet will meet the parliament when it convenes and will not resign in the interim. It was officially stated this evening.

GIVE AUTHORITY TO SELL STOCK

The state securities commission has granted the Gibson Land and Investment company, headed by James-town men, permission to sell $75,000 worth of stock for the purpose of developing farming and oil lands in the Sweet Grass region of Montana, northwest of Billings. The authority was granted on condition that money derived from the sale of stock be held in escrow until all stock is sold.

Schools have turned over all their facilities to the demonstration, so that now a well organized method of child health education is in progress.

From everywhere comes only encouraging co-operation. No attempt is made at health education or attention in a family, unless the demonstration has obtained full consent from the parents concerned. Yet, no opposition has been encountered. Every city and county authority is working hand and glove with the demonstration.

It is this co-operation, Dr. Brown suggests, that has helped the demonstration progress toward its definite goal. The proportion of males to females is generally largest in the west.

FORMER WIFE OF SAILSTAD TO SEPARATE

Will Leave Present Husband Until She Can Get Divorce, She Announces

Eau Claire, Wis., Dec. 11.—Ross R. Richardson today is living at a local hotel, while Mrs. Leona Sailstad Richardson, who for a year has lived as his wife, is occupying the home. This is the result of the arrival of a photograph last night of Edward Sailstad who was arrested last week at Napa, Calif., with Miss Dorothy Anderson. Sailstad and Miss Anderson are wanted at Superior, Wis., on charges of arson. "My God its Ed."

That was the exclamation of Mrs. Sailstad Richardson when shown a photograph of her husband, Edward Sailstad shortly after his arrest. Shortly afterwards retreating with her present husband, Ross R. Richardson, into a corner of her home away from inquiring eyes of reporters and officials the Richardsons conferred in a low voice for about ten minutes. When they again faced newspaper men and officials and announced that they had decided to separate and not live as husband and wife until a divorce had been secured and a sufficient time had elapsed to remarry, under the statutes.

READY TO RETURN.

Napa, Calif., Dec. 11.—(By the A. P.)—Edward J. Sailstad and Dorothy Anderson, nomadic lovers, whose three years of roving terminated in their arrest here, completed preparations today for their return with officers to Douglas county, Wisconsin, where in 1920 they robbed a grave of the body of a friend and burned the corpse so that the charred bones would be mistaken for those of Sailstad. The pair was permitted plenty of time to arrange their affairs today.

WARRANTS SENT OUT

First Hail Warrants For 1923 Are Given Farmers

Hail darrants totalling about $125,000 were to be sent out today from the state hail insurance department, as the first payments on the 1923 hail losses suffered by farmers insured with the state department. Warrant holders in Billings, Bottineau, Cass, Cavalier, Grand Forks, Griggs and Pembina counties, will receive the warrants, which may be cashed with the state treasurer. All losses are paid off an 80 per cent basis and will bear no interest, since they are called immediately on issuance.

Writing of warrants for 27 other counties has been completed, and warrants will be issued in a few days, according to Martin Hagen, manager of the department.

State officials yesterday signed up $1,000,000 of hail warrant notes, on which money was borrowed, from Twin Cities financial houses to enable the department to pay losses in cash before tax collections are made.

REBELS TAKE GOVERNOR OF BIG PROVINCE

Ygnacio Enriquez Taken Prisoner by De La Huerta Forces, Is Report

REVOLT NEWS MEAGER

Few Dispatches Filter Through to Show Progress of Mexican Revolution

Chihuahua City, Mexico, Dec. 11.—Governor Ygnacio Enriquez of the state of Chihuahua has been captured near Torreon by De La Huerta forces and is being held prisoner, according to word received by legislators here today. Governor Enriquez was returning to the state capital from Mexico City where he went in an effort to prevent a rupture of P. Calles and Adolfo de La Huerta.

REPORT CAPITAL FALLS

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 11.—Coincident with reports that Tepic, capital of the Mexican state Mayrit, had fallen into the hands of the rebellious forces General J. G. Escobar, commander of the puppetment troops, was en route with 2,000 troops from Torreon to cut off the rear of General J. Estrada, the rebel commander of Guadalupe, military officials at Juarez learned last night. Only meager reports of the uprising against the Obregon government by supporters of Adolfo de La Huerta, presidential candidate, were available early today due to the disrupted communication with the interior of Mexico. A dispatch from Nogales, said that all federal telegraph lines through the state of Nayarit and Jalisco were suspended and that a strict censorship was in force.

Reports that the Yaqui Indians at Dacelete were about to go on the warpath or that they had taken to the mountains in preparation for such action were declared unfounded in the Nogales dispatches.

PRESIDENT TO GIVE AID FOR LIGNITE FIGHT

President Calvin Coolidge, in a letter to the Association of Commerce, assures the Bismarck people that every possible and proper aid will be more for the protection of proper interest in the lignite coal industry. The letter of the President is as follows: Gentlemen: Your telegram of December 7th, commending me the text of the resolution adopted by the Association of Commerce is received. I have to thank you and express my great appreciation of the generous attitude you have assumed. You can be assured that every possible and proper effort will be made through the executive establishment for the protection of the interests in which you are so deeply concerned.

Most sincerely yours,

LORAN FINALLY GETS DEER WHICH BROUGHT SQUABBLE WITH WARDENS

Ted Loran paid the game board of the state $15 and today at last was in full and legal possession of the doe white-tailed deer which he killed 10 days ago by hitting it with his automobile on the Mandan-Bismarck road.

About 24 bids were received by Deputy Game Warden Harry Thorberg, in Mandan, ranging from $3 to $15, which was the price paid by Loran.

"I killed the doe and I wasn't going to let any of those other fellows get it if I had to pay $25 for it," said Ted.

Loran hit the deer at night when it ran across the road. The car was badly shaken, but because the fender and bumper struck the deer and threw it to one side the car was not wrecked. Loran, who knows something about the hunting game, immediately bled the deer and soon after the entrails were removed. It was thus in perfect condition.

A friend of Loran bid the deer in for $5 before a justice of the peace, but game warden seized the deer and announced bids would be received up to December 11. The original purchaser considered bringing a replevin action against the game warden to obtain the deer, but decided that the expense of doing this would hardly justify the action.

The deer remained in cold storage in Bismarck, and now is in Loran's hands.

WIFE SLAYER'S SANITY TO BE TESTED, PLAN

Commission Will Determine Whether He Is To Go On Trial For Murder

Milwaukee, Dec. 11.—Judge A. C. Backus in municipal court entered a plea of not guilty for E. Ray Tompkins, charged with murder in the first degree in connection with the death of his wife, Ora Belle Tompkins, and appointed a lunacy commission to inquire into the defendant's sanity when the case was called today.

Milwaukee, Dec. 11.—(By the A. P.)

The first definite action that will send E. Ray Tompkins to the hospital for the criminal insane or to a trial on first degree murder will be taken today in municipal court when Tompkins will be arraigned for the death of his wife, Ora Tompkins. He has confessed that he killed his wife and then buried the headless body in an isolated spot near the city.

When Tompkins is brought into municipal court District Attorney Shaughnessy will ask the appointment of a commission to inquire into the sanity of the former normal in the city, it was reported by the committee, is the baseball park. Mr. Corwin explained that the idea of the committee was to flood a place about the size of the football gridiron, but that a survey made by Thorne Dickinson showed the ground was three feet higher at one end than in front of the grand stand, and this plan would have to be changed. A tool house which had been used by the Haggart Construction Company can be obtained for a warming house, he added.

The big problem is getting water to flood the place. Various methods were discussed—one to tap a main just west of the International Harvester Company's plant, another to lay pipe from Third street and another to send water through the storm sewer which goes through the athletic park. Some additional investigation probably will be made before definite action is taken in this regard.

Two methods of financing are proposed—one to sell season tickets and the other to seek contributions. Aid of the city commission was asked in necessary grading and in donating water.

The committee will meet again today.

FARGO FAVORED IN RATE CASE, SAYS DISPATCH

Tentative Report of Examiner of Commission Is Held To Be Favorable

Fargo, Dec. 11.—Recommendations supporting virtually every claim advanced by the Fargo Commercial Club in its suit for freight rate equality are made in the tentative report of A. C. Wilson, special examiner to the Interstate Commerce Commission, according to a special dispatch to the Fargo Forum from Washington.

"An examination of this report," says the dispatch, "shows the examiner has found there is no just basis for lower basis of rates from the Twin Cities to Minnesota points than from Fargo to Minnesota points."

Reports that there is no justification for a higher basis of rates relatively to Fargo from Chicago and the east than applies from Chicago and the east to the Twin Cities; that there is no justification for applying a lower relative basis of rates from the Twin Cities to Montana points than applies contemporaneously to Fargo and those Montana points; also that the rates from Kansas City to Fargo should be properly adjusted in their relationship to corresponding rates to the Twin Cities and Duluth. Also that the rates from Duluth to Fargo, should be properly adjusted. He also recommends proper adjustment of rates from California to Fargo to be no higher than corresponding rates to the Twin Cities. The report also provides for similar changes in rates to Valley City and Jamestown.

KELLOGG CONFIRMED

Washington, Dec. 11.—After a contest in executive session the nomination of former Senator Frank B. Kellogg of Minnesota to be ambassador to Great Britain was confirmed. Both of the Farmer-Labor senators from Minnesota, Johnson and Shipstead, are understood to have argued against confirmation. They lost their fight, however, on a roll call vote.

Washington, Dec. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—The senate again found itself in a deadlock as it resumed balloting today for the election of a chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee.

Senator Cummins, Republican of Iowa, who now holds the dual position of chairman of the committee and president pro tem of the senate, received 41 votes for the chairmanship on the first ballot to 39 for Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, and seven for Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, leader of the Republican insurgents. This left Cummins three short of the necessary majority.

On the second ballot Cummins again was short three votes of the necessary majority. La Follette held his seven votes and Cummins again got 41 and Smith 39.

Cummins' vote dropped to 39 on the third ballot, Smith holding his 39 and La Follette seven.

With Cummins four short of a majority the senate went into an executive session and later adjourned until tomorrow when there will be more balloting.

TRAIN CREWS FACE INQUIRY ON BAD WRECK

Engineer of Death Train Had Clean Record For Two Score of Years

Erie, Pa., Dec. 11.—Ten railroad men, the crews of two sections of the New York Central Twentieth Century limited when the fast train was wrecked near Forsyth, N. Y. early Sunday with the loss of nine lives, came to Erie today to face officials of the road and to tell what they know of the fatal crash. Among these was Chas. Patterson of Buffalo who for two-score years has been at the throttle of many fast trains. His record was clean until Sunday when during a driving rain and a heavy fog his train plowed into a section of the limited which had halted momentarily.

Boat officials have stated that Patterson drove his train past warning signals. Railroad executives in charge of the hearing were joined by Coroner Blood of Chautauqua county and representative of the Interstate Commerce Committee and the New York Public Service committee who are also investigating. The hearing was behind closed doors.

POULTRY RAISING NOW CALLED "FIVE MILLION INDUSTRY" IN N.

CHILDREN CRY FOR "CASTORIA"

A Harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups — No Narcotics!

Fargo, Dec. 10.—That poultry raising is "a five-million dollar industry in North Dakota today" is the way O. A. Barton, poultry specialist at the North Dakota Agricultural college, characterizes the poultry industry of this state.

The attention given to poultry in its own right is steadily increasing and mighty strides have been made in developing this sideline of farm activities in North Dakota during the past few years," continued the poultryman. "The Federal Censuses of 1900 and 1910, supplemented by statistics compiled in 1921 and 1922, show how this industry is rapidly developing into one that brings millions of dollars into the pockets of farmers of this state."

Statistics released by Mr. Barton gives for this recent phenomenon the growth of poultry industry in North Dakota are: our naturally favorable conditions of the state, the abundance of grain food on farms, the organization of associations and demonstrations for the work of extension and experimental station staffs of the state agricultural college.

In 1900 the number of chickens in North Dakota was reported as 1, 285; the number of turkeys was 973; ducks were listed as totaling 23,816; geese were counted as 17,206. But in 1910 these numbers were more than doubled in some and nearly doubled in others. In 1922 there were 4,955,023 chickens, 61,621 turkeys, 39,328 ducks, 30,000 geese.

FLOOD DANGER STILL EXISTS, IS DECLARED

Contentions of North Dakota Attorneys Made in Minnesota Flood, Drainage Case

IN COURTS FOR YEARS

The decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, in holding adversely to North Dakota's claim for damages from the state of Minnesota because of the flooding of lands near Fairmount, Richland county, leaves the matter also without a remedy, according to the contentions made by M. H. Boutell, North Dakota's attorney, before the supreme court of the United States. In his brief in the case he asserted that "the physical conditions disclose that if the artificial system of ditches constructed by Minnesota is continued to be maintained, periodic recurrence of the excess on the domain of North Dakota with the consequent loss and destruction of property is inevitable."

The claim for damages of $10,000,000 was because of the overflow of about 10,000 acres of land during 1915 and 1916. There has been no recurrence of large extent since 1916. The case which was finally decided by the high court has been in the courts for many years.

With a view of relieving inadequate drainage facilities for the delta zone near the southern boundary of North Dakota, the state of Minnesota engineered the system with local ditches, the system functioning through a main canal or ditch known as the Mustinka state ditch. The first ditch, about seven miles long, substituted for the tortuous channel of the Mustinka river a clear, well defined channel of greater carrying capacity. The result of this, according to the contentions of North Dakota, was to transfer the surface waters from the easterly to the westerly area of the delta zone, toward the North Dakota border. An extension was constructed to Lake Traverse.

The substitution of this system, North Dakota contended, destroyed the effect of the delta zone as a natural detaining basin. In consequence, the flow of waters of the watershed was accelerated and the volume discharged in Lake Traverse practically doubled. This resulted in surcharging the lake, causing its overflow and the inundation of the whole Bois de Sioux valley, it was contended.

During the early summer of 1915 when the valley lands were covered with standing crops and after the grain was headed out, the waters commenced to rise. The flood increased until its crest was reached the latter part of July, of that year. Approximately 10,000 acres in North Dakota were overflowed. The crops were totally destroyed. The inundation continued throughout the summer and fall during which there was some recession of the waters. In the spring of 1916 the lands were again flooded, the inundation exceeding that of the previous year. The recession, late in the fall, left the lands covered with a deposit of mud and silt and overgrown with rushes and aquatic grasses, it was alleged, rendering them unfit for cropping in 1917.

The state of North Dakota contended the flooding was due to the artificial drainage system constructed by Minnesota, and constituted a trespass by Minnesota upon the domain of North Dakota.

The contention of Minnesota was that neither the main ditch construction nor the elaborate system of laterals effected any appreciable change in the flood conditions in the area or contributed to the more rapid discharge of water and that the floods of 1915 and 1916, were accounted for by natural phenomena, including what was claimed to be an abnormal precipitation.

WHEAT TRADE QUIET TODAY

Prices Average Little Lower in Early Dealings

Chicago, Dec. 11.—Influenced by a decline at Liverpool and by bearish statistics wheat today averaged a little lower early. Nevertheless with Secretary Hoover and other government officials expressing themselves in favor of some plan to finance exports of food stuff to Germany sellers were apparently disinclined to become aggressive. Houses with Winnipeg connections furnished most of the offerings. The opening which varied from unchanged figures to 1-4 cent lower with December, $1.03 1-2 and May, $1.09 to $1.09 1-8, was followed by a slight rally and then by a downturn all around.

Wheat showed increased weakness as the day drew to a close, in favor of some plan to finance exports of food stuff to Germany. The close was heavy 3-8 to 1-2 to 7-8 to 1 cent net lower, with December $1.03 to $1.03 1-8 and May $1.09 1-4 to $1.09 3-8.

ASYLUM FOR INSANE CLAIMS HIGH PER CENT

One in Every 25 Persons Marked For Hospital Says Expert

BY ALEXANDER HERMAN.
NEA Service Staff Writer.
New York, Dec. 11.—"One out of every 25 adults in the United States is marked for an insane asylum or hospital for mental disease."
"Two hundred and fifty thousand are within five years of the state hospitals."
"Some of these are very close—a week, a month, six months, a year—but everyone before five years."
"Nothing but a miracle will stop it."
"And there will be no miracle."
Such are the views of a man who is one of the country's greatest authorities on mental disease—Dr. Frankwood E. Williams, medical director of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene.

Yet there is no need worrying. For science is making rapid strides to cut down the toll reaped by the inroads of mental disease.

"Many forms of mental disease are now curable, a very large proportion is preventable," says Dr. Williams. "Many of the patients recover, and become as well as they ever were."

"But the disease must be caught in time."

"Insanity never comes on suddenly. People don't go crazed by grief or sudden disaster. Loss of business, or disappointment in love do not in themselves make a person insane. These sudden shocks are merely precipitating factors in an ailment that probably has been a long time in development."

"The time to start watching this development is in childhood. Peculiarities, addictions, queerness of make-up should be reported to the family physician. The boy who is extremely 'good,' who is never late for Sunday school, who never is a trial to his parents, is not necessarily a mentally healthy boy. To prevent a serious maladjustment later he may need more attention than his young cousin who is the terror of the town."

Parents who want to keep their children from developing mental troubles, can take these pointers from Dr. Williams:

1. Never frighten your children.
2. Give them an opportunity for self-expression.
3. Never shame them. Shame is not a healthy emotion to bring into the life of a child.
4. Keep from making them self-conscious before others.

FLOOD DANGER STILL EXISTS, IS DECLARED

Contentions of North Dakota Attorneys Made in Minnesota Flood, Drainage Case

IN COURTS FOR YEARS

The decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, in holding adversely to North Dakota's claim for damages from the state of Minnesota because of the flooding of lands near Fairmount, Richland county, leaves the matter also without a remedy, according to the contentions made by M. H. Boutell, North Dakota's attorney, before the supreme court of the United States. In his brief in the case, he asserted that "the physical conditions disclose that if the artificial system of ditches constructed by Minnesota is continued to be maintained, periodic recurrences of the respass on the domain of North Dakota with the consequent loss and destruction of property is inevitable."

The claim for damages of $10,000,000 was because of the overflow of about 10,000 acres of land during 1915 and 1916. There has been no recurrence of large extent since 1916. The case which was finally decided by the high court has been in the courts for many years.

With a view of relieving inadequate drainage facilities for delta zone near the southern boundary of North Dakota, the state of Minnesota gridironed the system with local ditches, the system functioning through a main canal or ditch known as the Mustinka state ditch. The first ditch, about seven miles long, substituted for the tortuous channel of the Mustinka river a clear, well defined channel of greater carrying capacity. The result of this, according to the contentions of North Dakota, was to transfer the surface waters from the easterly to the westerly area of the delta zone, toward the North Dakota border. An extension was constructed to Lake Traverse.

The substitution of this system, North Dakota contended, destroyed the effect of the delta zone as a natural detaining basin. In consequence, the flow of waters of the watershed was accelerated and the volume discharged in Lake Traverse practically doubled. This resulted in surcharging the lake, causing its overflow and the inundation of the whole Bois de Sioux Valley, it was contended.

During the early summer of 1915 when the valley lands were covered with standing crops and after the spring was heavier the waters commenced to rise. The flood increased until its crest was reached the latter part of July of that year. Approximately 10,000 acres in North Dakota were overflowed. The crops were totally destroyed. The inundation continued throughout the summer and fall during which there was some recession of the waters. In the spring of 1916 the lands were again flooded, the inundation exceeding that of the previous year. The recession, late in the fall, left the lands covered with a deposit of mud and silt and overgrown with rushes and aquatic grasses, it was alleged, rendering them unfit for cropping in 1917.

The state of North Dakota contended the flooding was due to the artificial drainage system constructed by Minnesota, and constituted a trespass by Minnesota upon the domain of North Dakota.

The contention of Minnesota was that neither the main ditch construction nor the elaborate system of laterals effected any appreciable change in the flood conditions in the area contributed to the more rapid discharge of water and that the floods of 1915 and 1916 were accounted for by natural phenomena, including what was claimed to be an abnormal precipitation.

WHEAT TRADE QUIET TODAY

Prices Average Little Lower in Early Dealings

Chicago, Dec. 11.—Influenced by a decline at Liverpool and by bearish statistics wheat today averaged a little lower early. Nevertheless with Secretary Hoover and other government officials expressing themselves in favor of some plan to finance exports of food stuff to Germany sellers were apparently disinclined to become aggressive. Houses with Winnipeg connections furnished most of the offerings. The opening which varied from unchanged figures to 1-4 cent lower with December, $1.03 1-2 and May, $1.09 to $1.03 1-8, was followed by a slight rally and then by a downturn at around.

Wheat showed increased weakness as the day drew to a close, which was heavy 3-8 to 1-2 to 7-8 to 1 cent net lower, with December 1.03 to $1.03 1-8 and May $1.08 1-4 to $1.08 3-8.

ASYLUM FOR INSANE CLAIMS HIGH PER CENT

One in Every 25 Persons Marked For Hospital Says Expert

BY ALEXANDER HERMAN, NEA Service Staff Writer.

New York, Dec. 11.—"One out of every 25 adults in the United States is marked for an insane asylum or hospital for mental disease."

"Two hundred and fifty thousand are within five years of the state hospitals."

"Some of these are very close—a week, a month, six months, a year—but everyone before five years."

"Nothing but a miracle will stop it."

"And there will be no miracle."

Such are the views of a man who is one of the country's greatest authorities on mental disease—Dr. Frankwood E. Williams, medical director of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene.

Yet there is no need worrying. For science is making rapid strides to cut down the toll reaped by the inroads of mental disease.

"Many fogs of mental disease are now curable; a very large proportion is preventable," says Dr. Williams. "Many of its patients recover, and become as well as they ever were."

"But the disease must be caught in time."

"Insanity never comes on suddenly. People don't go crazed by grief or sudden disaster. Loss of business, or disappointment in love do not in themselves make a person insane."

"These sudden shocks are merely precipitating factors in an ailment that probably has been a long time in development."

"The time to start watching this development is in childhood. Peculiarities, addictions, queerness of make-up should be reported to the family physician. The boy who is extremely 'good,' who is never late for Sunday school, who never is a trial to his parents, is not necessarily a mentally healthy boy. To prevent a serious maladjustment later he may need more attention than his young cousin who is the terror of the town."

Parents who want to keep their children from developing mental troubles, can take these pointers from Dr. Williams:

1. Never frighten your children.
2. Give them an opportunity for self-expression.
3. Never shame them. Shame is not a healthy emotion to bring into the life of a child.
4. Keep from making them self-conscious before others.

5. Don't lie to your children about important matters, especially about the matter of sex.

6. Keep your children from developing feelings of inferiority.

7. Punish your children if they need it. But make the punishment prompt, reasonable and fair.

8. Let them develop hobbies—healthful outlet of normal persons.

9. Help the children maintain their own self-respect.

"A parent who gains control over his child by breaking its spirit," adds Dr. Williams, "is an unworthy parent and one who has contributed to making mental diseases the largest public health problem in the country today."

One of the chief factors that is helping combat this momentous problem is the change in the public attitude toward the insane victim.

"No longer is it a disgrace to have a mental disease," says Dr. Williams. "It is recognized that often it is more creditable to have a mental disease than heart disease."

"It is being recognized that many of the inmates of state hospitals are moral heroes, who, unable to maintain without compromise the moral standards of life they had set for themselves, are gamely paying the price."

Reports of Shank As Entertainer Very Complimentary

Reports of the entertainment given by Charles Edwin Shank, reader of plays and entertainer, who appears as the third number of the Lyceum program to be given here Saturday, Dec. 15 at the Presbyterian church, are highly complimentary of his talent.

A report from the Gardner Gazette, Gardner, Kans., says in speaking of him:

"Gardner always likes a good reader and such a one is Charles Edwin Shank. To begin with he is likeable, one of those sort of fellows you just naturally take to and he chooses the kind of literature folks like to hear, and if you don't believe it just go and hear him and you will say we knew what we were talking about. Thursday evening, Mr. Shank read the play, 'The Country Boy.' He was here, yillian, comedian, well he took all the parts of a four act play. We believe it was Canebo Pansa who said, 'This was better so, no snips,' we will, therefore, not use any fine words and will give facts to prove that Mr. Shank is an entertainer of the highest order. Men, women, and children gave the closest attention from the time the mythical curtain went up on the first act until it fell at the end of the last, and what is more we say that Mr. Shank is an Artist. However, that sounds too much like the stereotyped words used from time to time from which the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. We will simply say that Mr. Shank is an Artist and we should like to hear him again."

Mrs. Laist Heads Catholic Daughters

At a meeting of the Catholic Daughters of America, last evening, the following officers were elected: Mrs. Wm. Laist, grand regent; Emily Morris, vice grand regent; Mrs. Chester Johnson, prophetess; Mary Sheehan, monitor; Ethel McKee, financial secretary; Catherine Blith, historian; Mrs. Al Simons, treasurer; Mrs. Corrigan, sentinel, and Mrs. Fitzgerald, organist. Trustees: Mrs. J. D. Healey, Mrs. E. A. Brown and Mrs. Baseling.

The retiring officers are: Mrs. E. Bannon, grand regent; Mrs. Al Barrett, vice grand regent; Mrs. Dolan, prophetess; Gayle Hawk, monitor; Jalis Johnson, financial secretary; Mrs. Roy Kannel, treasurer; Alice Kunta, sentinel; Mabel Green, organist, and trustees: Mrs. Wm. Laist, Mrs. Reuter, Mrs. J. D. Healey being re-elected.

At the close of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed by the members, after which a delicious lunch was served.

The officers presented the retiring Grand Regent, Mrs. E. L. Bannon, with a beautiful bar pin as a token of appreciation of her untiring efforts for the good of the order, during her term of office.

Reports of Shank As Entertainer Very Complimentary

Reports of the entertainment given by Charles Edwin Shank, reader of plays and entertainer, who appears as the third number of the Lyceum program to be given here Saturday, Dec. 15 at the Presbyterian church, are highly complimentary of his talent.

A report from the Gardner Gazette, Gardner, Kans., says in speaking of him:

"Gardner always likes a good reader and such a one is Charles Edwin Shank. To begin with he is likeable, one of those sort of fellows who just naturally take to and he chooses the kind of literature folks like to hear, and if you don't believe it just go and hear him and you will say we knew what we were talking about. Thursday evening, Mr. Shank read the play, 'The Country Boy.' He was hero, villain, comedian, well he took all the parts of a four act play. We believe it was Cancho Panza who said, 'fine words butter no parsnips,' we will, therefore, not use any fine words and will give facts to prove that Mr. Shank is an entertainer of the highest order. Men, women, and children gave the closest attention from the time the mythical curtain went up on the first act until it fell at the end of the last, and what is more we say that Mr. Shank is an Artist. However, that sounds too much like the stereotyped words used from time to time from which the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. We will simply say that Mr. Shank is an Artist and we should like to hear him again."

Mrs. Laist Heads Catholic Daughters

At a meeting of the Catholic Daughters of America, last evening, the following officers were elected: Mrs. Wm. Laist, grand regent; Sally Morris, vice grand regent; Mrs. Chester Johnson, prophetess; Mary Sheehan, monitor; Ethel McKee, financial secretary; Catherine Blith, historian; Mrs. Al Simons, treasurer; Mrs. Corrigan, sentinel, and Mrs. Fitzgerald, organist. Trustees: Mrs. J. D. Heald, Mrs. E. A. Brown and Mrs. Bassett.

The retiring officers are: Mrs. E. Bannon, grand regent; Mrs. Al. Barrett, vice grand regent; Mrs. Dolan, prophetess; Gayle Hawk, monitor; Julia Johnson, financial secretary; Mrs. Roy Kennedy, treasurer; Alice Kunta, sentinel; Mabel Breen, organist; and trustees: Mrs. Wm. Laist, Mrs. Reuter, Mrs. J. D. Heald being re-elected.

At the close of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed by the members, after which a delicious lunch was served.

The officers presented the retiring Grand Regent, Mrs. E. L. Bannon, with a beautiful pin as a token of appreciation of her untiring efforts, for the good of the order, during her term of office.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

ONE YEAR'S WORK
The first annual report of the Association of Commerce is distinctly encouraging. It relates the accomplishments of the organization during the past year; it points the way for the future. What the new organization has done in one year, with the loyal support of a larger membership, can be doubled in the next year. Tangible results already have been secured. But it is very evident from a careful reading of the report that one of the greatest accomplishments of the organization has been to bring more citizens then ever into the field of civic endeavor. The A. of C. has put several hundred people into active service for the good of the city; ultimately it can put three times the number of people into the civic harness.

The program of the Association of Commerce was made by the membership. While the organization work was still in progress a membership meeting was called in the high school. The members were divided into groups. They discussed possible planks in a program for the first year and by the simple process of a majority vote the major program was developed.

This program included a social registration bureau. Good progress has been made toward a community chest, which means not only efficiency but economy in necessary charitable work. There was an insistent demand for a Juvenile Band, for by training scores of boys and girls to be band musicians, the city is insured a band for many years. By a program of financing which touched perhaps more lightly upon the people than any similar program ever attempted for a civic enterprise, the Association has a Juvenile Band with a competent leader, and has laid the foundation for an adult organization. Cities which expect to grow, or cities which have grown without direction, realize the need of city zoning. The Association plans to direct Bismarck's growth along the right lines, and by doing so make a more beautiful and a more useful city.

The tourist camp, the reorganization of the cow testing circuit, the convention, postal service and other similar activities which were not a part of the program outlined by the membership at the beginning of the year, have been successful. Indeed, it is but fairness to say that the organization has greatly exceeded the expectations of its membership.

The accomplishments have been made possible only through a recrudescence of civic spirit in Bismarck and wise leadership. Credit is due A. F. Bradley, the executive officer of the Association, for his individual efforts and for his skillful directing of the activities of the various branches of the organization. There are many in the city who have in the past lamented the lack of civic pride and energy in Bismarck; there are those outside the city who have declared that factionalism would prevent Bismarck from reaching her proper place in the sun. The criticism no longer holds good. And if the citizens of the city will support the Association of Commerce during the next few years as they have in the last year, the criticism cannot be repeated.

JOINING HANDS

Leather makers have banded together and are conducting a big advertising campaign with the slogan: "Nothing takes the place of leather."

These ads are signed, not by any individual firm, but by the national organization of leather tanners.

Tanners used to fight each other to get as big a share as possible of the business available. Now, confronted by a rapidly increasing use of leather substitutes, they find it wise to band together, bury the ax, and unite against the common enemy—substitutes.

This leather campaign is typical of a decided change that is taking place in advertising and general salesmanship.

For instance, you see an ad, put out by cement makers united, insisting that concrete is the ideal building material. You turn a page and find a similar claim for wood. Another page, and the same plea is advanced in behalf of brick.

These ads are signed by groups of manufacturers, or by organizations that include a whole trade or industry.

Many other commodities are being advertised the same way—California oranges, raisins and even public utilities like electricity.

This new era in advertising is partly due to a united effort, in a given industry, to combat competition from the product of a separate and distinct industry—brick versus wood, for instance.

Again, manufacturers and other producers are beginning to see that, by united advertising, they can create a much larger demand for their common product, with the result that there'll be more business to divide among themselves. On the simple principle that two pies go further among four boys than one pie.

HOT-DOG CONTEST

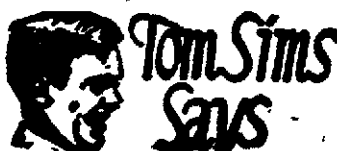

Fifty-three "hot-dogs" were eaten by John Huine in a contest. The audience then carried him to the rear of the restaurant, covered him with a fireman's red shirt and left him to sleep. He's the champion hot-dog eater of New York's Lower East Side.

A thousand years from now, Huine's giant meal will seem as important as nearly anything else happening this year in America; so don't belittle him. On with the World Vaudeville!

THERE ARE WORSE THINGS

Nearly five million men and women in our country are unable to read or write, according to their confessions to the census takers. Many others, of course, were too sensitive to admit such handicaps.

In January there'll be a national illiteracy conference in Washington, D. C., to map out plans for reducing illiteracy. Sometimes, when reading some modern fiction and our own stuff, we wonder whether the people unable to read should be pitied or congratulated.

These shortest days are the longest to the boy waiting for Santa.

It is estimated forty-five million people will stumble over toys on the floor this Christmas.

A manicuring set is a good gift even if you don't know what all the funny-looking things are.

A scutcheon of coal is a nice Christmas present, but too expensive.

Coal is getting so heavy some dealers think 1900 pounds make a ton.

Doesn't take much more than three feet to make a coal yard.

Thousands of people will get strong and healthy this winter exercising to keep warm.

The human race is getting so fat it is a regular balloon race.

What will you give your husband for Christmas? Let us suggest three dozen ash trays.

What will you give your wife? We suggest a spool of silk thread to match your silk socks.

The fastest run on record is the Christmas rap on the banks.

The holidays bring many bank robberies, not the least of which are dads robbing babies' banks.

Everybody loves a fat man dressed up as Santa Claus.

There is a lot of money in working, but it is hard to get.

If you buy a tie you think nobody will like, give it to some man who wears long whiskers.

You can't have your Christmas furs and Christmas funds too.

Due to Christmas air-guns, women will continue their window shopping to buy new windows.

Chicago is lively. Musician lost fortune playing poker. Poker is much harder to play than music.

New device tell the depth of the sea by echo. Try at the three-mile limit and the echo will be drunk.

The foreign situation is about the same except the names are getting harder to pronounce.

With so many other things to wonder about, some men insist on wondering if their hair is combed.

Gone are the days when overcoats were built for three years' wear.

A wise man never falls in love this close to Christmas.

It is estimated the energy wasted knocking Congress would fill about 999 giant balloons.

Fifty years ago today people were just as surprised to find Christmas was so near.

Only a few more shopping months before bathing suits.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

This was the next riddle the Riddle Lady asked:

"I am not so very big, nor yet so very small,
Sometimes I am flat and then again I'm tall.
Sometimes I am stout, but often I am lean,
And I come in any shade at all from bottle blue to green."

"I don't like life indoors, I much prefer outside,
And yet I never, never walk, I always take a ride,
My fortune's always good, it seldom takes a drop,
My friends say it's remarkable how I come out on top."

"I cannot run, I never race, but if the truth be said,
No matter where I promenade, I'm always on a head,
I'm quiet in my habits, on sea or air or land,
But then again I must confess, I often have a hand."

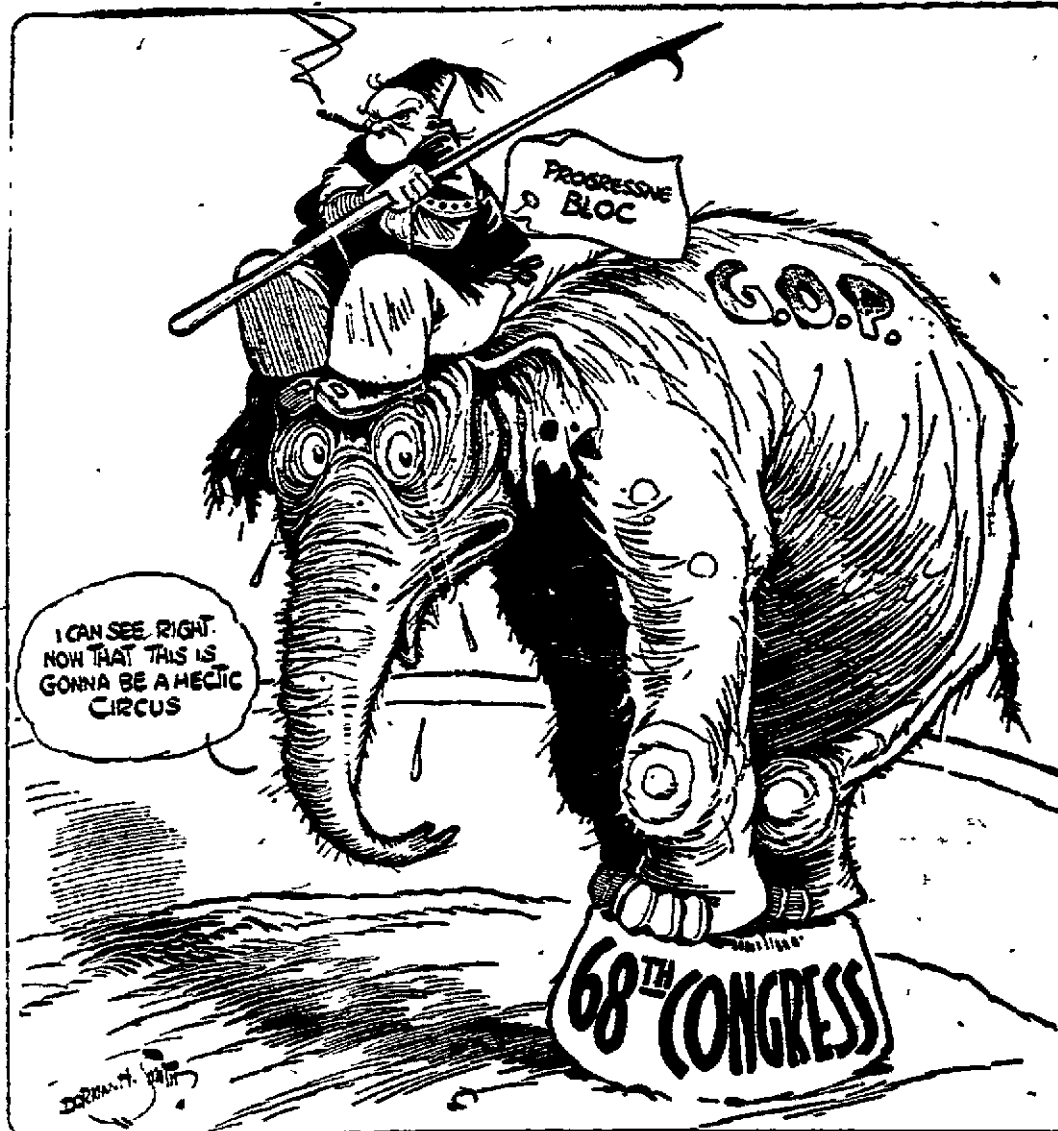

"Now this no doubt will make you laugh, I haven't any head,
But wait, my friends, and spare your chaff, I have a crown instead,
I never eat, I never drink to keep in proper trim,
And yet in nine times out of ten, I'm filled up to the brim."

"Dear! Dear!" declared the Wise Man to Nick. "I never heard such a hard riddle in my life. I just know I can't guess it. I might try jumping into a bramble bush or two and shake up my wits a bit. Do you know?"

Nick shook his head. "No, I don't! I think it's hard, too."
Humpty Dumpty heard the conversation and broke in. That is, I mean he really didn't break, he interrupted. "I've had my fortune told," said he pompously, "and I've been told to keep away from stone walls, but nobody ever told me to keep away from riddles. I think they are as hard as stone walls any time, and just as likely to crack your head open."

Nancy was trying hard to think. She loved riddles and she hated to give up.
Suddenly a sweet voice at her elbow said, "Hello, Nancy!"
And the stout Alice from Wonderland. Nancy knew her at once by the way she wore her hair and her odd little slippers. She had just come to Riddle Town and she had heard the Riddle Lady's last riddle.

The Elephant Tamer

"I just came from a tea-party," she explained. "You've heard of the Dormouse and the Mad Hatter and the March Hare, and how they entertained me, haven't you?"
At that an idea popped into Nancy's head. "It's a hat! It's a hat! The answer is a hat!" she screamed.

And so it was, my dear! But I still think that Alice couldn't help thinking that Nancy was a trifle rude, for she never did answer her question.

EVERETT TRUE BY CONDO

The Tangle

"What are you going to do about it all?" asked Ruth in perplexity. "My dear, I don't know. That is the reason I have told it all to you. I want your advice. It seems to me, Ruth, that the first thing to do is to settle with that man—myself, besides you and myself, is the only one on this side of the water at least who knows anything about those pearls."

"Why don't you go on to New York and see Struble and Struble?" "I can't make an excuse to get away and the man won't wait, you see."

"Perhaps I can persuade him to wait, Leslie."

"Then you will see him for me, dear?"

"Why of course I will. Didn't you give me fifteen hundred dollars of that pearl money? I know you did, you generous girl. And you were carrying that around in your hand-bag that day, weren't you? That was the roll of bills I saw. You are either the silliest or the most courageous woman I know."

"I guess I'm the silliest, Ruth, dear. What are you going to say to the man?"

"I'm simply going to tell him that he picked up that pearl in the hotel that night and if he doesn't give it up I'll have him arrested."

"But he will tell you, Ruth, that my husband does not know the pearls are real. I wonder by what law he can do that?"

"Why, that is easy, Leslie. Like all low-minded men, he jumped at the conclusion that if your husband did not know the pearls were real, you were putting something over on him and you had a good reason for keeping it from him."

"How will you get this out of his mind, Ruth?"

"I'll simply say that Jack does know that the pearls are real and that it was the simplest and most natural thing in the world for him to say that they were only beads because, if he hadn't, every waiter in the room would have picked up some and put them in his pocket. That of course will be something he will understand. Then I'll demand the head of him again or threaten him with arrest."

"My Ruth, but you are clever! I would never have thought of that."

"Well, you see your mind is a little clouded over all this, anyway. A disinterested party is always a better judge of what to do in things of this kind. If I had taken Walter Burke's advice I would have left Harry Ellington long before he ran away from me. I would have put myself in a position where Harry could have had to take care of me. But honestly, Leslie, I didn't want to do that. I don't want any man having to spend his money on me as a duty when he is in love with some other woman."

"Yes I know, Ruth. That is the economically independent woman's idea."

"Sure, and you and I are both going to be economically independent. And I want to tell John Alden Prescott that he will have to mind his P's and Q's or you will be asking him some questions."

"What in the world do you mean, Ruth?"

"I mean, Leslie, that I am going to be economically independent. And I want to tell John Alden Prescott that he will have to mind his P's and Q's or you will be asking him some questions."

"What in the world do you mean, Ruth?"

Bori, McCormack and Flonaley Quartet featured

Metropolitan records of Mac-cagni's "L'Amico Fritz" give two soprano records by Lucenia Bori, of the finest soprano voices from this work, of particular timeliness. "Non pocki fiori" (Here are Some Flow'ers) is admirably soft and gentle here and the soprano sings the famous "Intermezzo" from Cavalleria Rusticana. Not quite so happy, but equally lovely is "Non mi resta che il pianto" (Must I Ever Thus be Sadly Crying) on the other side, which is sad, mysterious, yet soars to beautiful heights.

Such records as the Flonaley Quartet's two offerings this week should be played in a sound-proof room. This isn't necessary, of course, but you get a wider sense of the meaning of "chamber music" when you hear this great string quartet play the adagio from Mozart's "Quartet in D Major" and the same movement from Schumann's "Quartet in A Minor." It is a peculiar privilege to have such records in the home.

There is a familiar hit in John McCormack's two solos this week, closely allied to the current American dances. "Somewhere in the World" and "Where the Rainbow Ends" are catchy and rhythmic, beautifully scored and sung.

Dadman Sings a Massfield Poem

This is no record for lounge hands. "Trade Winds" and its companion, "Massfield Poem," are melodies of the so-called wide open spaces. Both are replete with deep-woven harmonies, tonic as the breath of Aeolus.

What more fitting than for men's voices to pay tribute to a "Dear Old Lady," as Sterling trio does this week? And with the addition of a fourth voice, as Peerless Quarter, they sing "Lady Lady," treating it almost like an orchestra of voices, despite the very real presence of a real orchestra behind them, too.

It is really amazing, when you stop to think of it, how few really chosen to master the Hawaiian guitar. We don't know the answer but we do know that Frank Ferera and Anthony Franchini are among the very few, as revealed in the two simple waltzes they record this week, "Bright Moon" and "Hawaiian Nights." Dance or listen to them, or do both; they are worth it.

Plenty to Dance to

We get our first hearing of another fine dance orchestra this week, David H. Silverman and His Orchestra of St. Louis. They leave no doubt as to their stand on the jazz question in "Mama Goes Where Papa Goes" and "Mean Blues," in which they unleash a couple of new tricks.

We doubt if the dancer dissects the dance, but here are two studies of clearly defined dance types, jazz and the smoother fox trot. Charles Dornberger and His Orchestra play the first "Wonder If She's Lonely, Too"—while the Manhattan Merry-makers effect the second—"I Never Had a Lover."

There is something about the Benson Orchestra's records which meet every demand of every dancer. Have you noticed how they seem to be made for you? "You" and "Do You, Don't You, Will You, Won't You" are certainly tactful records in every sense.

The Benson's face about this week with two without an equal, "Lonesome and Blue" and "When Lights Are Low" are in the modern waits tempo, which is in many respects easier than the old-fashioned waltz.

Many a Gloomy Countenance in Bismarck Now Lightens With Happiness

A bad back makes you gloomy. Can't be happy with continual backache. The aches and pains of a bad back. Are frequently due to weak kidneys.

Doan's Pills are recommended for weak kidneys. So Bismarck citizens testify. Ask your neighbor.

John Wray, 1015 9th St. N., Bismarck, says: "My kidneys were sluggish in action and I had a dull, steady pain in my back. I had to get up several times during the night to pass the kidney secretions. Doan's Pills were recommended to me and I got three boxes at Breslow's Drug Store and after using them the trouble disappeared. I recommend Doan's Pills for such trouble knowing them to be a remedy of merit."

SAYS VICTORY WAS GAINED IN LOWER HOUSE

Congressman Sinclair, Asserts, in Statement, that Rules Will Be Changed

Congressman J. H. Sinclair of the Third North Dakota district, in a statement received here, declares that the organization of the house of representatives was a victory for the "progressive bloc."

"In preventing the election of the Speaker until certain concessions had been obtained there was no hostility to Mr. Gillett, but it was realized, that if consent was given to the organization of the House along the old lines, Progressives would be bound hand and foot," said Congressman Sinclair.

"Under the old rules, the favorite method of defeating legislation was to stifle it in the committees through committee chairmen. There is no rule to force chairmen to report bills even though favorably acted upon by the committee, and thus many a measure died right in the pocket of the committee chairman. Again, when the calendar becomes congested, as is the case most of the time, the all-powerful rules committee has the right to determine which bills shall come up for consideration on the floor of the House. That committee has always been packed by the reactionary group, and in the closing days of the last session the country was treated to the spectacle of the acting speaker, Congressman Campbell of Kansas, although already repudiated for re-election by his own district, still refusing to report as chairman of the rules committee, more than a dozen resolutions by his own committee, calling for immediate consideration. So, one man could and did, defeat the will of a majority of the House. Countless instances of this kind could be cited."

were of the opinion that Fred Niblo has handled the production with a great amount of care and skill. It is certain to prove one of the best plays of the season.

The story is concerned with the attempt of Mrs. Fair, a woman who has won fame through her war work in France, to continue her work after she returns home. She goes on a lecture tour, leaving her husband and children to shift for themselves. The point that the author makes it that any woman—any Mrs. Fair—cannot have both a home and a career. She must sacrifice one or the other, and very often both.

Fred Niblo, director of such epochal photoplays as "Blood and Sand," and "The Three Musketeers," has shown his skill in the translation of this fine play to the silent drama. An atmosphere of realism pervades the picture, and to a great extent this can be traced to Mr. Niblo's treatment.

The Open Book

NOT so many years ago, executives generally, looked upon the close corporation as the ideal business arrangement. The higher the selling price of their stock the more successful their business—so they thought. Every business move was shrouded in the utmost secrecy—as a result the public did not understand big business and viewed it with suspicion.

Five years ago, the Management of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) decided that if the public knew more about its methods of operation, and had a better knowledge of the ideals animating its practices, suspicion, born of misunderstanding, would give place to confidence, respect and esteem.

At that time the stockholders in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) numbered 4,623 and stock in the Company was selling for about $775.00 a share

It was decided to acquaint the public, in a frank and open manner, with facts concerning the ownership of this Company—its Management—its policies—its principles—its practices—its ideals—and the true relationship between the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and the public it serves.

Each week the public press has carried a message dealing with some phase of the business of this Company.

As fast as the Company could bring it about, the par value of the Company's stock was reduced and the capital stock was increased until the price per share was brought to a point where it was within the reach of small investors.

At this writing the stockholders in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) number 43,081 and the selling price of its stock is about $59.00 per share.

Today, the man of modest means can become a stockholder in the Company and no one stockholder owns as much as six per cent of the total stock.

Confidence, respect, and esteem have routed suspicion and misunderstanding.

The patrons of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are its friends—its employees are one happy family—the stockholders are proud of the fact that they are part owners in such a shirt-sleeved organization which places service before profits and by so doing has earned the good-will of the thirty million people of the two-fisted Middle West.

The Open Book

NOT so many years ago, executives generally, looked upon the close corporation as the ideal business arrangement. The higher the selling price of their stock the more successful their business—so they thought. Every business move was shrouded in the utmost secrecy—as a result the public did not understand big business and viewed it with suspicion.

Five years ago, the Management of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) decided that if the public knew more about its methods of operation, and had a better knowledge of the ideals animating its practices, suspicion, born of misunderstanding, would give place to confidence, respect and esteem.

At that time the stockholders in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) numbered 4,623 and stock in the Company was selling for about $775.00 a share.

It was decided to acquaint the public, in a frank and open manner, with facts concerning the ownership of this Company—its Management—its policies—its principles—its practices—its ideals—and the true relationship between the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and the public it serves.

Each week the public press has carried a message dealing with some phase of the business of this Company.

As fast as the Company could bring it about, the par value of the Company's stock was reduced and the capital stock was increased until the price per share was brought to a point where it was within the reach of small investors.

At this writing the stockholders in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) number 43,081 and the selling price of its stock is about $59.00 per share.

Today, the man of modest means can become a stockholder in the Company and no one stockholder owns as much as six per cent of the total stock.

Confidence, respect, and esteem have routed suspicion and misunderstanding.

The patrons of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are its friends—its employees are one happy family—the stockholders are proud of the fact that they are part owners in such a shirt-sleeved organization which places service before profits and by so doing has earned the good-will of the thirty million people of the two-fisted Middle West.

WILL FIGHT RATE BOOST ON HARD COAL

Minnesota Alarmed by Increase in Through Rail Hauls on Anthracite

Minneapolis, Dec. 11.—The proposed increase in through rail rates on anthracite coal from the principal Pennsylvania mines to Minneapolis and other Northwest points will not go into force unchallenged. C. A. Bruce, secretary of the Twin City coal exchange, announced today. Mr. Bruce said the exchange will file a formal protest against the new rate schedule with the Interstate Commerce Commission by December 20, the final day for protesting.

The freight rate on anthracite, if changed, will mean an increased transportation cost of $1.50 on a short ton of hard coal, Mr. Bruce said.

Several other Northwestern organizations are planning to protest the proposed rate, according to Mr. Bruce.

SLAYER NEAR AN ESCAPE

Timely Arrival of Janitor Frustrates Attempt

Benidji Minn., Dec. 11.—The timely arrival of the courthouse janitor early today frustrated an attempt to escape by Leonard Pirritano, slayer of four persons at Kelleher, November 15 last, from the county jail here.

Given an hour, Pirritano would have made good his escape through a hole in the brick wall, Sheriff J. R. Johnson said. Pirritano had removed a number of bricks from the wall directly under the window sill of his cell on the second floor and if given more time the hole would have been sufficiently large to permit his freedom.

The prisoner started to work for his freedom sometime after 2:30 a. m., according to Sheriff Johnson who visited the slayer's cell at that time.

SEE INCREASE IN PRICES OF SLOPE LAND

The county commissioners of Hettinger county have taken a step toward putting the Slope country right before the country by issuing a handsome, illustrated booklet called "Successful Farm Ownership."

The county is boosted as the "corn country," declaring that government statistics "based on records of over 20 years show the district to be especially favored for the raising of corn, four out of five years showing a record of 100 to 110 days between killing frosts. This is about the same as southern Minnesota and gives promise of a corn district equally as good in the years to come, with a corresponding rise in land prices which has always followed with successful production of corn in the better known corn raising sections.

U. S. SHIPS GO TO HONG KONG

Ordered There Because of Chinese Conditions

(By the Associated Press)

Manila, P. I., Dec. 11.—Five destroyers of the American Asiatic fleet left here this afternoon bound for Hong Kong. The vessels were ordered to the Chinese ports in connection with the situation at Canton and that vicinity. The destroyers Peary, flag ship of the squadron, of the 4th division of the Asiatic fleet headed the detachment. They are expected to arrive at Hong Kong Thursday morning.

WOULD AID IN INQUIRY

Attitude of Washington on Subject Is Made Known

Washington, Dec. 11.—The Washington government "would view with favor" participation of American experts in the reparations inquiry committee, now under consideration, it was announced today at the White House.

It was emphasized that the government could not participate in any official way or appoint official representatives of the committee but it was said that participation by American economic experts in their private capacity would be approved.

ASK CHANGE OF JUDGE IN BANK CASES

Affidavits of Prejudice Are Filed Against Judge C. M. Cooley in Fargo

Fargo, Dec. 11.—Affidavits of prejudice against Judge C. M. Cooley and the Cass county district court were filed with Clerk of Court Ralph Croal today by several defendants in connection with the failure of the Scandinavian-American Bank case. The affidavits were filed precluding the entering of pleas by several of the defendants. The state asked for an opportunity to be heard on the question and Judge Cooley fixed 10 a. m. Friday as the time for hearing the argument.

Affidavits this morning were filed by attorney John Burke in behalf of H. J. Hagen, P. R. Sherman, N. G. Eggen and J. J. Hastings. Affidavits in behalf of E. W. Catbro and L. P. McAnaney and Heaton were to be filed late today.

Preus Won't Quit His Office

Washington, Dec. 11.—Governor J. A. O. Preus of Minnesota today denied the report that he would resign.

Kellogg's Bran is prepared to do one thing—AND DO IT WELL!

Kellogg's Bran will permanently relieve constipation, mild or chronic. It is scientifically prepared for that purpose. It is ALL BRAN, therefore it has the necessary bulk to assure results. Foods with a small bran content cannot afford permanent relief.

When your physician or friends advise you to eat Kellogg's Bran, you follow on for the purpose of eliminating a dangerous clogging-up and toxic condition of your system. You can't afford to take half-way measures! Think of the lost time and the dangers of illness you are daily dodging!

What you must have is real bran—KELLOGG'S BRAN, and if you will eat it regularly each day you will become a different person within a week or so. Kellogg's Bran, with its natural bulk, sweeps, cleanses and purifies. It not only gives relief, but it regulates the bowels. Every member of your family should eat it—every day—at least two tablespoonsful in chronic cases as much with each meal.

Kellogg's Bran mixed with a hot cereal, or cook it with hot cereals, adding two tablespoonsful of Bran for each person. Other popular ways are to sprinkle Kellogg's Bran on hot or cold cereals or to eat it as a cereal with hot milk. You can make delicious bakery products with Kellogg's Bran. Recipes on every package.

Kellogg's Bran is not only nationally sold in grocery stores, but can be had in individual packages in first-class hotels and clubs. Ask for it at your restaurant. Be certain to eat Kellogg's Bran daily for health's sake!

REVOLUTION SUPPRESSED

Movement in Portugal Has a Short Life

Lisbon, Dec. 11.—(By the A. P.)—A revolutionary movement broke out in Lisbon last night but was promptly put down. The energetic action of the government obliged the rebellious element to surrender and order was restored without bloodshed.

Later, the President visited the Lisbon barracks and naval arsenal. Conditions today are normal.

COLLINS IS ON MARKET

Chicago White Sox Would Trade or Sell Him

Chicago, Dec. 11.—Eddie Collins, premier second baseman of the American League and captain of the Chicago White Sox, is for sale or trade and may become manager of the Washington club for the 1924 season.

Frank Chance, newly appointed manager of the White Sox, made the startling announcement last night that Collins had been cast into the player market. This announcement was the most important to come from the convention of more than 1,200 baseball leaders who assembled here yesterday to set their house in order for the 1924 season. Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club, while not denying that he had talked over the prospects of landing Collins, intimated that he was in a receptive mood. He declined to make a flat statement.

Collins, if he is not traded, will be one of the last two players who remained on the club wrecked in 1920 as a result of the world's series scandal of 1919.

The big convention opened yesterday with half a dozen meetings, including a session of the board of arbitration of national association of minor league which threshed out the dispute over the presidency of the Pacific Coast League.
